Dear Station Managers and Program Directors,

KREI radio in Farmington, MO has been an affiliate of American Countryside for years and will carry the program as long as Andrew chooses to produce it. Andrew tells the story behind the story. Whether it's a different angle of a familiar tale or a topic you've never heard about before, Andrew's copious research and insightful interviews make every show interesting.

It's great to hear stories from across our great country and even better when Andrew tells our listeners a story about something from their own neighborhood. We're happy to have discovered American Countryside. It's a perfect fit in our lineup.
